

You need to know a topic before you can revise it, so you might need to learn material you missed (eg due to absence).

Self-quizzing is a key revision strategy.

It doesn't have to be all about flashcards.

Put what you have learnt into practice.

This is not just about using past paper questions (remember, these are a finite resource).

Learn → Quiz → Practice

- Dual coding
- Revision guides
- Effective note taking
- YouTube
- BBC Bitesize
- Oak National Academy

- Retrieval practice
- Flashcards
- Quiz a buddy
- Quizzing websites
- Seneca

- Spaced practice
- Elaboration
- Draw a diagram
- Write a paragraph
- Explain out loud
- Mind maps to make links
- Try exam style questions